Guy Messick
Attorney, Messick & Weber, P.C.
General Counsel, NACUSO

Guy is an attorney engaged in the private practice of law in Media, Pennsylvania. Guy provides strategic planning and legal consultation services to credit unions and credit union service organizations nationwide. Since 1987, he has served as General Counsel to the National Association of Credit Union Service Organizations (“NACUSO”) where he acts as liaison with the National Credit Union Administration and the Securities and Exchange Commission. Guy is a nationally known speaker on a wide range of credit union and CUSO topics. He has presented at conferences sponsored by NACUSO, NCUA, NASCUS, CUNA, CUES, ACUMA, AICPA and various State Leagues. Guy is the author of numerous articles on credit unions and credit union service organizations. He is a panelist on the monthly podcast “Current Issues in Credit Unions” available on iTunes and <http://ciicu.libsyn.com/>. He maintains an information web site for credit unions and CUSOs at www.CUSOLaw.com. Outside of his credit union practice, Guy has had extensive experience representing small businesses and government economic development agencies.

Guy's practice focuses on assisting credit unions in finding effective ways to work collaboratively (1) with third party service providers to serve their members with non-traditional products and services and (2) with other credit unions to leverage their collective resources. Guy is best known for work with CUSOs, Incidental Powers, loan participation agreements, credit union due diligence reviews, business lending, governance issues and privacy law compliance. He has worked with credit unions and CUSOs involved in offering a number of different services, including: sale of investment and insurance services, mortgage lending, title insurance, indirect lending, business lending and depository services, peer-to-peer lending, student lending, credit union management, collections, trusts, information technology support, marketing, stored value and debit cards, item processing, travel, payroll processing and disaster recovery/business continuation.

Guy is a graduate of Bucknell University and the University of Miami School of Law. He is a member of the bar of the Supreme Courts of Pennsylvania and the State of Washington. He is an active member of the Credit Union Committee of the American Bar Association and serves as Co-Chair of the Credit Union Governance Sub-Committee.
